Comments/Questions:

template.

04:07:04	Andrew Jung: Airtable is awesome
04:07:26	Suzanne Currie: +1 Aurelius
04:07:34	Melanie Levy: Anyone been using Userbit?
04:08:08	ankita negi: Optimal sort is good too but limited to some point
04:08:58	Chauncey Wilson: Airtable is a hybrid that combines a database and a spreadsheet and it exports to Ex	cel. Airtable can be used to track multiple studies which in a corporate environment can make the team more co	onvincing.
04:09:50	Genevieve Kelly: I use EnjoyHQ, I have used Aurelius, Airtable and there is Dovetail - for repositories
04:09:57	Nidhi Palan: I found this template quite useful for a recent qual study:
https://docs.g	google.com/spreadsheets/d/1FCnsYRAOuhx_vwVEAvKlX8sqdcZw0MkfE5RJpDO3fHQ/edit#gid=5

04:10:02	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: Letty - yes! We are recording and will post to our YouTube
channel: http	s://www.youtube.com/channel/UCbhHzt5UfetbARUebUaJgvQ?view_as=subscriber
04:10:36	Laura Davis: Is that inside of Word?
04:11:13	Emily Ennis: What tool do you use for Mind Mapping?
04:11:31	Chauncey Wilson: Any recommendations on mind mapping tools?
04:11:46	jsummersgill: Miro is great for visual mapping
04:11:52	Adrienne - Presenter: Free Mind
04:11:57	Genevieve Kelly: I use Miro (formerly realtime board) for mindmapping - its a template in there
04:12:08	Emily Ennis: Miro is amazing!
04:12:08	Erika Orrick: I like MindManager, but it is expensive.
04:12:09	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: We use Mural at work.
04:12:10	Amanda Stauffer: Thank you guys! WAs wondering the same.
04:12:13	mardomakb: Which tool do you recommend for mind mapping?
04:12:16	Tyler - CoronaWhy: I enjoy Miro for working quick, Figma can work for it too with a good

04:12:46 Scott Kincaid: Freemind is an open source option (e.g. "free")... and is great for keyboard entry to move nodes up/down/left/right, etc.

04:12:55 Erika Orrick: For lower-cost mindmapping, I would recommend Mindomo

04.40.50	T. O. I. II.W
04:12:58	Tim Campbell: We use Freemind as it's lightweight, opensource, and quick to get moving
04:12:58	Leo Vogel: I use MindNode for mind mapping and Miro for affinity mapping.
04:13:09	Linzi Xu: I use Mural for mind mapping and affinity mapping.
04:13:15	Vonetta DeVonish: So organized and easy
04:13:27	Dana Moran: Notion has a research database template has worked great for notes and capturing key
04:13:47	Edwin Singh: Miro and Notion are such a good combination
04:13:48	Erika Orrick: I love, love, love Notion. I am using it right now for notes
04:13:52	Vonetta DeVonish: @Leo, thanks! MindNode is a new one to me.
04:13:59	ankita negi: @Nidhi Thanks! The template is great
04:14:01	Bill Caemmerer: Automatic transcription services are getting much better, saves a lot of note taking ar	ngst
04:14:01	Andrew Jung: @Dana URL?
04:14:08	Diego Fontes: I've used Mural for affinity mapping, Otter for voice transcripts, and daily briefing sessions afte	r every interview.
04:14:08	Erika Orrick: notion.so
04:14:11	Leo Vogel: If you have dismissed Notion in the past I recommend looking at it again. They've changed their	plan pricing. The free tier now has a lot of value.
04:14:22	Erika Orrick: @Andrew http://notion.so
04:14:26	ankita negi: Notion is great I am using right now to keep my things organised
04:14:43	Sara: Otter.ai for transcription is awesome
04:14:52	Tyler - CoronaWhy: i've tryied the new free Notion plan for brain dumping.
04:14:58	Alejandra: Notion is really great. I'm using it for personal stuff as well for school and work.
04:15:07	Melanie Levy: Rev does great auto transcription as well!
04:15:16	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: Michael, we will share the deck once we get it from our speakers
04:15:27	Erika Orrick: I tried and dismissed Notion once before, but this second time around I've made it is worth the small learning curve
04:15:30	Laura Davis: Anybody have a template they like for prepping for doing user interviews? Or your note taki
04:15:33	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: I've been using Dovetail for note taking and transcriptsit's pretty slick so far!
04:15:48	Dana Moran: Otter is our tool for recording and you can keyword search transcriptions
04:15:58	Leo Vogel: Lennon Cheng wrote on Medium about how he published his design portfolio using Notion.
04:16:08	Andrew Jung: Aaaaaaaaaaaaaa
04:16:15	ankita negi: Oh that is coolWill try out Otter for sure Thanks @Dana
04:16:26	Genevieve Kelly: enjoyhq does automatic English translations
04:16:40	Leo Vogel: Descript is a free alternative to Otter if you only need a few hours of audio transcription.	Leo vogel. Descript is a free alternative to Otter if you only freed a few flours of addition
•	Surana Huyah: Zoom automatically groates transprints, also free
04:16:48	Syrena Huynh: Zoom automatically creates transcripts, also free
04:16:59	Syrena Huynh: Also timestamps them which is helpful for clips
04:17:08	Tyler - CoronaWhy: Zoom doesn't do them free i don't think
04:17:15	Melanie Levy: Yeah, but Zoom's transcripts aren

04.47.04	Failes Omisle. Heads the Baleta Legende entires.
04:17:21	Erika Orrick: Here's the link to Lennon's article:
•	ım.com/amplify-design/building-my-design-work-log-with-notion-f8a03f0fdffb
04:17:26	Melanie Levy: oops- aren't that great, to be honest
04:17:49	Trevor Robison: Thanks Erika, love start to finish breakdowns
04:18:43	Erika Orrick: Here's the actual portfolio article. The other is his worklog.
•	ign.cc/how-i-shipped-my-new-design-portfolio-under-5-hours-1bc817deed54
04:18:57	Erika Orrick: I'd read them both recently
04:19:03	Chauncey Wilson: I wrote a short article on affinity diagramming in 2012.
•	pepad.com/files/Method%2022%20of%20100.pdf
04:19:15	Anna Lee Anda: If you have user testing that also does transcription
04:19:34	Pratap Jayaram: Are you brain dumping the trends or patterns that you think appeared in d then going in and layering your notes on top of those?
04:19:52	Laura Davis: +1 what is in the brain dump?
04:19:59	Monica Mod: second Prataps question
04:20:30	Amanda Stauffer: Brain dump is when you just write down EVERYTHING that ocmes to mind on the t	·
04:20:31	Andrew Jung: I think so
04:20:44	Tyler - CoronaWhy: Brain dump is getting the little things you noticed and patterns your saw that might be	e about people, everything your thought.
04:20:46	Andrew Jung: ^^ @Mirandy
04:20:47	Siena: I've been advised that Dragon can do dictation, though it is not free (I am not experienced	in this area as a student, so this I don't fully know if this will fulfil your transcription needs)
04:20:54	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: We will post the slides on our website once we get them from our presenters
04:21:06	Karen lp: otter.ai is also a great tool
04:21:13	petermanley: @Lorie what's the website URL?
04:21:26	Andrew Jung: Whoah, didn't know Dragon was still in business. I remember them.
04:21:29	Vonetta DeVonish: @Lorie, thanks!
04:21:29	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ slides will be posted to www.uxresearchandstrategy.com once we get them	from the ladies ^^
04:21:35	simoncatford: Types of learnings like
04:21:51	petermanley: Thanks!
04:22:10	simoncatford: Values
04:23:07	Chauncey Wilson: If you have a large group involved with the data, you could split into a few groups and h	have each team do an affinity diagramming. I used to do that and it revealed different perspectives which was va	aluable.
04:23:30	Vonetta DeVonish: @Chauncey, great tip!
04:23:47	Erika Orrick: The bane of bad user research. People assuming they've figured out the conclusion too soon.
04:24:17	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: Amen Erika!
04:24:36	Pratap Jayaram: Definitely seeing the parallel to group ideation
04.04.00	Met Octobre and to the area consists about the short Octobre to be seen to be seen that

Kat Coleman: Is there a way to save the chat? I don't seem to have that option

04:24:39

- 04:24:43 Tanya Kuruvilla: If you have learnings that fall into 2 different groups, what would be the best way to handle it?
- 04:24:55 UX Research and Strategy: Are you tagging tonight's event on social media with #UXRS? We want to see your thoughts and summaries.
- 04:25:16 Andrew Jung: @Kat, I just select all, copy and paste it into a text file.
- 04:25:26 Trevor Robison: Should you actually go over labels with stakeholders before you conduct your interviews to make sure you're focusing on results that they want to see?
- 04:25:45 Trevor Robison: Or just let the participants responses dictate that?
- 04:26:36 Laura Davis: +1 Trevor's question
- 04:26:43 Siena: I second Trevor Robison's question
- 04:26:45 Chauncey Wilson: Good point on capturing the process. I used to document different types of sessions and the images were useful for presenting results, publicizing the team's work, and for use at internal and external conferences. Good to appoint someone as the archivist.
- 04:26:48 mardomakb: finding vs insight is wise!
- 04:26:49 Erika Orrick: Those types pictures are also very important to your portfolio (when you can use them). The process is as if not more important than your results in a UX portfolio
- 04:27:47 lorenzo: mmmhhh—I need a why there
- 04:28:15 Erika Orrick: @Trevor (and all) In a straightforward affinitizing process, the participant responses dictate the labels.
- 04:28:20 Dana Moran: This information is so valuable! Thank you Adrienne! I'm a designer/researcher and you just make me realize I can employ many of my design thinking activities (and workshopping activities) with research. Brilliant!
- 04:28:24 Lorie Whitaker Staff UXR: ^^ if you have questions for the speakers, put them here! I'll capture them and we'll ask as many as we can at the end ^^
- 04:28:33 Erika Orrick: But as with everything in UX, it can depend on your exact process.
- 04:28:34 Jakkii Musgrave: MPOV: the labels are part of the analysis, so you can't use them to conduct interviews. Designing your interviews is part of the research design process, so when you're understanding the goals of the research and then framing the right questions that will help you answer those goals. The labels are groups of findings that should hopefully be in line with answering the goals.
- 04:28:37 Monica Mod: What does everyone call the "now what" section after the insight? ...recommendations, opportunities, etc. I am looking for new sexy header for this sections
- 04:28:38 Chauncey Wilson: In usability testing, I used to remind notetakers to record what is happening, not their interpretation of the event.
- 04:28:53 Tyler CoronaWhy: Why is always the fundamental question for any understanding.
- 04:29:18 Andrew Jung: Why?;)
- 04:29:31 Erika Orrick: @Dana. Design Thinking and UX Research are the same processes applied slightly differently.
- 04:29:39 Randall Bapst: wish I could turn off the Zoom chat popups, they can be kind of distracting.
- 04:29:49 Trevor Robison: Gotcha, makes sense, thanks Erika.
- 04:30:01 Erika Orrick: @Randall, if you open the chat window to the side, they won't popup anymore
- 04:30:06 Siena: Randall Bapst I put the Zoom chat in a pop up box, so that it doesn't cover the screen
- 04:30:16 Eric Dunsker: Q: You're a group who's worked together for a long time. Have you developed a reusable set of tags or finding categories you use across studies?

0.4.00.40
04:30:19	Paulo Victorino: how do you know when to stop to ask "why"?
04:30:44	Andrew Jung: Iol
04:30:44	Erika Orrick: @Tyler but you have to make sure to ask it 5 times
04:30:45	Trevor Robison: So many good questions, love it.
04:31:01	Kat Coleman: I can't copy the chat or save it. I'm on a Mac. Is this just me?
04:31:16	Tyler - CoronaWhy: Kat it will be shared.
04:31:24	Kat Coleman: Thank you Tyler
04:31:25	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: I tell people to act like a 5 year old! LOL
04:31:26	Emily Ennis: For Macs: Highlight the chat and drag it into a text doc.
04:31:38	SlaBow: can learn so much from toddlers:)
04:31:40	Tyler - CoronaWhy: I asked Why so much as a kid, it never really left me :P
04:31:41	mardomakb: @Paulo when you'll reach an aha moment
04:31:51	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ chat will be shared online www.uxresearchandstrategy.com tomorrow or	•
04:31:55	Sarah Ajani: Love "basically" :) way to simplify
04:31:55	Siena: Tyler funny name
04:32:03	Nicole Anicetti: Fantastic real life example, love that one! Thank you Adrienne!
04:32:13	Chauncey Wilson: You can also ladder sideways -
-	pepad.com/dux/chauncey-wilson/
04:32:17	Erika Orrick: Does that mean we can repeatedly tell people No when they want to do stupid things too?	Fellos Omislos (1)
04:32:22	Erika Orrick: :-)
04:32:27	Jakkii Musgrave: lol
04:32:28	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ I can't copy anything in the chat either. LOL But we will export it elean it up and post it on line.
04:32:34	Cindy Merrill: How do you have time to do all this analysis work and finish a study in 5 days?
04:32:37	Abey Tidwell: Question for fellow researchers - our team is very adamant on keeping the barrier en the researchers and those who make the decisions based on the research findings and itionsso when it comes to "the how" and resolving the issueIMO - that is not on researchth	•
04:32:37	Tyler - CoronaWhy: it's not my name, it's the volunteer org i;ve been supporting for the last nelping build research tools to help with Coronavirus.
04:33:17	katieramp: +1 Abey's question
04:33:26	Jakkii Musgrave: @Abey do you mean researchers don't make recommendations? Just
•	ngs and someone else reviews and makes recommendations?
04:33:29	Siena: Oops, I thought you were making a joke. Sorry.
04:34:02	Sara: @Abey research has a purpose and it is often to find a solution - hence the name R&D
	Development
04:34:04	Fernanda: Do you have examples of what a good report contains or how insights are presented??	Tulor Corona Mby a corona why are y
04:34:07	Tyler - CoronaWhy: coronawhy.org;)
04:34:08	Judy Blostein: Hey Chauncey!
04:34:11	Eric Dunsker: Are you a LUMA shop? I'm seeing a lot of methods in their collection

04:34:20 Chauncey Wilson: Hi Judy B.

04:34:23 Judy Blostein: :)

04:34:25 Emily Ennis: @Abey, we make recommendations but try to make a very clear division between what is a finding, insight, and recommendation. It depends on the project sometimes too.

04:34:35 Laura Davis: Me too @Eric! Loving the LUMA in this.

04:35:10 Monica Mod: I personally no longer like "recommendations" and looking for something a bit more grabby.

04:35:14 Monica Mod: Got any ideas?

04:35:26 sudiksha khanduja: will this video be shared to be able to watch again later?

04:35:27 Monica Mod: "Improvement Opportunities"?

04:35:32 Cristina Kulik: yes! I see Luma too.

04:35:39 Emily Ennis: ^^ yes! Opportunities :D

04:35:41 Jakkii Musgrave: "how to fix your sh!t"

04:35:45 Andrew Jung: lol

04:36:04 Sara: @Jakkii - LOL

04:36:07 Tim Campbell: Monica, one approach I've taken in the past was splitting it up to 'opportunities' and 'implications' so paint a picture of where that issue might further go if not addressed, or to illustrate how the opportunity may affect that

04:36:08 Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ we are recording this and will post it on our Youtube channel https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCbhHzt5UfetbARUebUaJgvQ?view_as=subscriber and our website www.uxresearchandstrategy.com ^^

04:36:14 Chelsea Cunningham: So impressive to complete all of this in 5 days!

04:36:28 Erika Orrick: I can't speak to whether or not they are technically LUMA, but this is basic qual research analysis 101. Same way we've been doing it since before the field was called UX and before design thinking was a thing.

04:36:29 Monica Mod: thx @tim

04:36:40 Erika Orrick: I know US has been around that long as well

04:36:43 Abey Tidwell: Sorry, I realize my message wasn't clear. But in my experience, research can make basic recommendations, but we usually just present the problem and why that problem matter but we keep solutions open for SMEs and UX to collaborate. It is usually the job of the UX team that we work in tandem with to inform the next steps for the next iteration, etc.

04:37:12 Monica Mod: Agree Abey

04:37:17 UX Research and Strategy: put your questions in the chat.

04:37:18 Siena: Tyler I looked up your charity, it's very interesting! I don't think I'd be able to do very much though, as a student 04:37:24 Chauncey Wilson: I've done bullseye diagrams where we ask teams to put a particular percentage in each ring (maybe 20% in the center, 30% in the second ring, and 50% in the outer ring.

04:37:43 Eric Dunsker: Do you do a do Bulls Eye diagramming with the sponsor when you're collecting their goals at the beginning? I.e., Get them to give you their priorities.

04:37:48 Erika Orrick: That's not to diminish their preso. It is a great explanation. I just want to make sure they get credit for the work they've been doing as a company for years.

04:38:05 Dana Moran: Question: What if your learnings are not insightful? E.g. you've learned from user what your client stakeholder already told you? (In my experience this indicated client really knows their users which is great but rare. But what if you struggle to surface those insights? 04:38:09 Gloriana Omodeo: I'm interested in having the recording of this presentation, will you share it? 04:38:16 Andrew Jung: Do you use darts and randomly select what you are going to do? 17/er - CoronaWhy: Siena, we have from high school student for experts and even professors in the team. Joining up and looking where you can help is always appreciated. 104:38:43 Nichi Palan: Does anyone know of good report template for presenting qual research data? 104:38:53 Sara: I ask the client/exec what type of report format they prefer - often it's a powerpoint with the professors. 104:38:59 Nicole Anicetti: Thank you both! +1 Natasha question about user research portfolios

04:41:07

Nadine:

- 04:41:11 Kay Otsubo: Do you do the mind mapping or note-taking after each person you have an interview with and add on top of each one or make separate ones for each user and look at them holistically after all the user interviews are completed?
- 04:41:12 Cristina Kulik: Do you use recordings/transcribing to get verbatim along with notes?
- 04:41:13 Harveen: Question: How do you want to see UX Research case study in portfolio when hiring?
- 04:41:24 daniel: Is there a bare number of findings your clients expect before they feel you've delivered value? Do you ever tack on a business or other value to what you've done?
- 04:41:28 Megan Creighton: Do you have recommendation for tools to transcribe interviews and/or code them, so that you don't have to do everything by hand?
- 04:41:30 Mirandy Kim: Not sure 100% related to this topic but would you be able to share the different between persona, archetype, vs mindset?
- 04:41:31 petermanley: QUESTION: Do you guys offer any UX research workshops or hands on opportunities to learn/practice?
- 04:41:55 Siena: Wow Tyler, that's surprising, I'll be sure to drop a line hopefully very soon! (I have some unavoidable university admin to do but that should be over shortly)
- 04:42:03 jason_frederick: Are there any case-studies we can reference?
- 04:42:10 Brian Corbitt: As a UX Research team of one, would it make sense to involve the designer on the project to take notes and help synthesize information?
- 04:42:10 Michelle H: +1 to petermanley!
- 04:42:19 daniel: What language-based analysis do you conduct?
- 04:42:21 Vasiliki Adamidou: How specific are the goals and how are they being set? What if the users talked about something else that it might be more urgent?
- 04:42:31 Ri Zoldak gmail: yes! how do you create a research portfolio?
- 04:42:41 Nicole Waniowska: Question: How do you make sure that the richness of people stories and quotes goes into report and its not lost with transferring to high level findings and insights?
- 04:42:45 Stacy Wang: +1 Natasha question: How would you go about making UX researcher portfolio?
- 04:42:48 daniel: What do you do to de-bias your data and your interpretations of the data?
- 04:42:52 Fernanda: Thanks:)
- 04:42:57 Chelsea Cunningham: What do you recommend when you're the sole researcher? How should you go about note-taking?
- 04:42:57 Elizabeth R.: How have your research techniques changed with the transition to online formats?
- 04:43:00 katieramp: Do you guys primarily evaluate existing products or also more exploratory research for innovation?
- 04:43:05 Edwin Singh: Thank you guys so much I have to drop for a work meeting!
- 04:43:09 Lauren Bonetto: Question/Request: Can these ladies do more presentation? One about reporting? This was amazing!!!
- 04:43:16 jason frederick: Case studies?
- 04:43:26 Lorie Whitaker Staff UXR: Brian, yes it would make sense!
- 04:43:30 Phillip Abraham: Do you have any personal feeling about the research not being reviewed but just have the summary glanced over?

04:43:37 margaretfreeman: If you're presenting the report in a Research Portfolio...how much detail is included for the backstory? Because the audience wouldn't be the stakeholders in those instances. Thanks!
04:43:40 Olesia: QUESTION: What is the best research method for a UX-team of one? I don't have a note taker or anyone to collaborate with + I have to analyze the information myself - what's the best way to do that to make sure I look at the insights from different prospectives?

04:43:41 daniel: How do you convince your users to participate in your sessions?

04:43:51 Jonathan Lyles: Is your process modified when conducting qual studies with large numbers of participants?

04:44:09 Ri Zoldak - gmail: question: in your pairs, do your peer review or gut check documentation and understandings of each other? Your research process is close to ours and I'm curious about that.

04:44:23 Sarah Ajani: Question: if you go in with a set research goal, with a hypothesis that the problem is x - but you find out there's a huge underlying root cause that should be tackled INSTEAD. Do you stop mid-research and pivot, or finish researching as per original plan?

04:44:29 daniel: What's a good at-home project we can engage in to show our skills in UX Research that could land us a job with Usability Studies?

04:44:35 Aboli Barve: Medical data

04:44:35 Kaitlyn Ouverson: QUESTION: In your experience, do researchers or designers typically translate findings into design insights? Or is it a collaboration? If it is, how can we as researchers best support this?

04:44:36 Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ we have a great presentation on Vimeo on how to create a ux research portfolio...we will email everyone a link to it. It's $15 to purchase as it was a past webinar ^^

04:44:40 Aboli Barve: Phapama clients

04:44:40 gaurav chadha: thank you very much for today's session

04:44:48 Shanshan Zhou: Questions: 1. so the notes taken are interpreted qual data already, sometimes I don't think we can trust and prefer to analyse from a transcript. What are your views on the pros and cons of analysing from notes v. transcripts? 2. Sometimes other researchers would prefer to see evidence behind findings, do you have a strategy of linking an insight back to the findings, quotes, transcript and audio data as evidence?

04:44:52 Siena: +1 to Daniel's question on the at-home project

04:45:22 María Fernanda Murillo: How do you know when to stop analyzing data?

04:45:28 margaretfreeman: Thank you so much! I have to run to another meeting and can't stay for networking this time. Love to connect with others going forward:

04:46:59 Maya Wagoner: @Olesia RE: a research team of one - I find that stakeholders are often happy to join as notetakers

04:47:09 Lauren Bonetto: QUESTION: Approach when there aren't clear cut answers - maybe some participants responses conflict with others.

04:47:12 Tyler - CoronaWhy: Linkedin has lots of people talking about mentoring junior ux people and how to find mentors or help.

- 04:48:15 Aboli Barve: Do you use personas or empathy maps to understand the users?
- 04:48:28 Olesia: @Maya thanks for your answer!
- 04:48:32 Laura Davis: Great question!
- 04:48:42 Lorie Whitaker Staff UXR: Empathy maps are a great place to start. But to create personas, vou need to understand the users:)
- 04:48:56 Lorie Whitaker Staff UXR: +1 to maya
- 04:49:19 Aboli Barve: @ Lorie: thanks:)
- 04:49:30 Tim Campbell: we don't know what we don't know. good stuff.
- 04:49:34 Tyler CoronaWhy: why would you avoid a unknown unknown?
- 04:50:06 Chris: @Shanshan Zhou, #2I think that is where a good marriage of a software platform like Aurelius that has comprehensive tagging and associative linking paired with team access to ongoing report building activities serves to provide a baseline for evidence, both defining a consensus on whats aligned with project goals and what constitutes discovery.
- 04:50:49 Andrew Jung: Has anyone ever been right? Lol?
- 04:50:53 Sandrine Moreau: Have you ever integrated quanti findings in your analysis and/or report? If so, how do you go about it?
- 04:51:24 Laura Davis: Or that they don't want to hear that their product isn't a good idea...
- 04:51:35 Tyler CoronaWhy: Everyone should be open to learn at all times in my opinion.
- 04:51:38 Natalia Rey: We talk a lot about interviews, but is it part of our roles to read the analytics to complete our story?
- 04:51:40 AS: Do you consider a research plan a living document? Or is it the source of truth? or both?
- 04:51:40 Anthony Inga: Great conversations! Thank you ladies for the practical wisdom!
- 04:51:50 leo sutkin: bias reduction?
- 04:51:55 Farrah: What are your strategies for addressing clients/stakeholders who disagree with your insights?
- 04:51:55 Marirose Manuel: Any recommendations on a good research repository for a research team within a company?
- 04:52:37 Genevieve Kelly: EnjoyHQ and Dovetail are great research repositories (have all the goodies lots of automation)
- 04:52:58 Lorie Whitaker Staff UXR: Marirose, we built an internal one in GitLab and we are currently gathering data in Dovetail because we needed an easier way to take notes and create insights. We hope in the future to import our findings and recommendations back into our GitLab repo
- 04:53:00 Sandrine Moreau: +1 for EnjoyHQ
- 04:53:03 Melanie Levy: Pairing works great! It's so hard to conduct an interview and take notes at the same time, especially when it's qual and the person you're interviewing goes on a tangent...
- 04:53:06 Nicole Waniowska: UX designer working in healthcare passionate about research and always willing to discuss best tools and methods with fellow designers https://www.linkedin.com/in/nicole-waniowska/looking forward to connecting with like minded people:)
- 04:53:07 Kayla Wren: +1 for Dovetail great for paired analysis
- 04:53:23 Melanie Levy: Yesss, Adrienne!
- 04:53:30 Karen lp: <3333
- 04:53:35 Luca Giaretta: Haha
- 04:53:43 Tyler CoronaWhy: "ugly baby" :P

04.52.44	Erika Orrick: Learning to talk to users is probably the single hardest skill to master as a UXR
04:53:44 04:54:04	Tabassum Kakar: Agree Erika
04:54:04	Jessica Anguiano: Love it Adrienne!
04:54:07	Brenda Plinck: LOVE IT
04:54:17	Brenda Plinck: EOVE TI Brenda Plinck: ME TOO @JESSICA
04:54:17	_
	andre: SLAP THEM ACROSS THE FACE :p
04:54:26 04:54:30	Andrew Jung: Back it up with your research
	Melanie Levy: :D
04:54:40	Tyler - CoronaWhy: My years of work in special education has taught me how to learn form
•	realise everyone really is different.
04:54:51	Tyler - CoronaWhy: from*
04:54:57	Looneypro: I've had clients get UPSET over my research findings as they felt that it undermined	•
04:55:10	Marirose Manuel: Thanks for the input! I'll look into dovetail. My team looked at Aurelius and didn't quite feel like they met our needs.
04:55:21	Farrah: Exactly, there are lots of sensitivities around their "babies
04:55:25	Genevieve Kelly: Looneypro - I have experienced this as well, unfortuntely
04:55:29	Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: Love it!
04:55:39	Emily Ennis: Yes. So much. That empathy has to go in all the directions. Not just towards the people we in
04:55:44	tarabulut: Amazing :)
04:55:47	William RED Davidson: but
04:55:52	Randall Bapst: Critique sandwich, love it
04:55:53	Tyler - CoronaWhy: exactly the same strat in schools
04:55:58	Chianta Dorsey: A critique sandwich? Ha!
04:56:00	Monica Mod: LOL
04:56:06	Trevor Robison: "Start with the sugar before the sour" my grandma used to say the same thing.
04:56:16	Royce S: sandwich, yes!
04:56:20	Natalia Rey: JUST LOVE YOU ADRIENNE!!!!
04:56:22	Looneypro: Genevieve - they got over it but definitely not a great feeling
04:56:57	Genevieve Kelly: lots of people know about the Sh*t sandwich - be careful they know what you are doing at least my clever colleagues ;-) - I am inhouse btw
04:56:58	Phillip Abraham: LOL!
04:56:58	Melanie Levy: LOL
04:57:03	ankita negi: lol
04:57:03	Fernanda: Iol
04:57:03	Chianta Dorsey: Ha! Ha!
04:57:10	Nicole Anicetti:
04:57:11	Looneypro: yasssss
04:57:16	Kay Otsubo: This is so entertaining! I would love to learn from these ladies all the time!
04:57:46	Andrew Jung: Practise
04:57:49	Andrew Jung: haha

04:58:01	Chelsea Cunningham:	I have a user interview tonight :). Wish me luck!

04:58:02 Brian Corbitt: Start with a dad joke to break down the walls :D

04:58:08 Shawn: Watch some Conan

04:58:08 Monica Mod: Can't stay for networking but this was a great session thank you. Look forward to receiving the slides and rewatching vid.

04:58:24 Andrew Jung: Don't lead

04:58:57 Tyler - CoronaWhy: it's a little like being a psychologist, get them talking to fill the void.

04:59:00 Emily Ennis: Repeat the last word they say and sort of drift off.. "and that....?"

04:59:11 Melanie Levy: Tyler - definitely

04:59:15 Maya Wagoner: Its good to practice your "mm hmm"s and "can you say more about that?" 04:59:36 Tyler - CoronaWhy: my partner is about to shart a Clinical Doctorate, so i live with that mind of mind.

04:59:46 Tyler - CoronaWhy: in psychology*

04:59:47 Erika Orrick: Have some well-practiced generic unbiased stock phrases you can use that you don't have to think about.

04:59:48 Chauncey Wilson: Emily Ennis - good point about empathy in all directions. Empathy toward a particular group might lead to other groups being ignored. There is a book out by Paul Bloom titled, Against Empathy that highlights the dark side of empathy.

04:59:48 Genevieve Kelly: the 'columbo method' - similar to the trail off noted before (google it or look it up on NN/G group - it's a super great technique for user testing or interviewing

05:00:07 Tabassum Kakar: I do mostly contextual inquiries - and keeping an eye on the small steps user take with the system as they are the key

05:00:09 Cristina Kulik: Question: Sounds like we are talking mostly interviews. What other methods do you use to get findings/verbatims?

05:00:19 Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: I like to play dumb ;)

05:00:23 Chelsea Cunningham: I struggle with leading lol

05:00:31 Looneypro: This was amazing thank you - it's so great to be able to learn from people around the world. I'm from Australia!

05:00:32 Tyler - CoronaWhy: playing dumb is a good trick.

05:00:33 Genevieve Kelly: I heard about that Paul Bloom book - thinking about reading and would love to hear more about it

05:00:46 Marirose Manuel: For moderating always go into it with the mindset of "I'm going to learn something new from this person" and you'll stay curious.

05:00:49 Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ we will share the recording of this video tomorrow on our YouTube channel https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCbhHzt5UfetbARUebUaJgvQ?view_as=subscriber and on our website www.uxresearchandstrategy.com ^^

05:00:52 Tyler - CoronaWhy: ask like you don't understand what they are struggling with.

05:00:56 Aboli Barve: Cannot join in networking. Thank you Ashley, Adrienne and UX strategy for such an informative talk!

05:01:01 Lorie Whitaker - Staff UXR: ^^ ux research portfolio talk
